

«MY Vincent Van Gogh»

Who hasn't heard of «Starry night»?

Vincent Van Gogh is well-known. He is, after all, my favorite artist. He was a self-taught painter with extraordinary artistic talent. He pursued his dreams despite many difficulties and setbacks. Unfortunately Van Gogh was not recognized until after his death. Van Gogh was determined to overcome any obstacles in his path. He became what he had always wanted despite having no formal training. Even though he only sold one painting during his lifetime, he persisted and always worked towards his dream. He used painting to fill the voids in his life left by the lack of support and love. He worked tirelessly to achieve his goals and improve his abilities. He didn't have enough money to support his dream at first, so he started working on it.

It's incredible that an artist went from having no feet to teaching himself to draw. In ten years, he became the most influential artist of the century.

Van Gogh's distinct artistic style and stories influenced many generations, inspiring many to admire and collect his works. Despite the fact that Van Gogh created many paintings that appeared ordinary during his lifetime, his thousands of drawings have unique characteristics that have been imitated by thousands. His distinct technique has become a modern art classic. Van Gogh's techniques became a model for artists, whether in his ability to combine colors or express his emotions.

After battling depression for many years, he lost his life due to the difficulties he faced in life, the mental illness he suffered from, and his confinement in an asylum. This, of course, does not diminish his worth as a person or as an artist. Overall, Van Gogh was determined to pursue his dreams and worked hard to establish himself. His spirit inspired not only artists but also ordinary people to never give up. Despite his tragic death, Vincent Van Gogh will always be an inspiration.
